Talk to your Account Manager today.

I recently read a report that said business opportunities for those in the physical security industry have never been stronger – I couldn't agree more!

When I'm talking to our team about new products that are coming, and to our customers about the work they're doing I'm constantly reminded of the plethora of solutions our customers have to choose from when offering security.

People outside the industry might not see it - but looking around the latest smart and connected devices, high security electronic and physical locking systems, to traditional locking products (and everything in between), there are products and systems to address an endless variety of needs.

Whether it's a residential, industrial, commercial, government, automotive or any other type of job we've got you covered.

Our team of industry experts are here to support and guide you in the selection of the best products to suit the requirement.

LSC has a busy year ahead. We've got more training, updates to our website, events, new products, improvements to our systems, and further upskilling for our team on the agenda.

Our national network of branches is there as a physical point of contact, and our people around the country and on the ground are available to help.

I wish you all the very best for the year ahead, and our team look forward to meeting you and partnering with you to grow your business.

OLD MACHINERY PARTS OBSOLESCENCE

Silca have advised that spare parts for some of the oldest electronic key machines will no longer be available. If your electronic key machine has been on the bench for 10 years or more there's a chance various components inside it are obsolete.

With the electronics industry moving quickly, older components become obsolete from the people who make them, and while Silca have a generous stocking and sourcing policy – they can't keep old electronics going forever.

Talk to your Account Manager about upgrading. New technology allows you to automate further and streamline, and there may be incentives or financial advantages to renewing the investment in your business.
