AIRSECURE CARBON DIOXIDE METER

PRECISION
GERMAN ENGINEERING

Since the beginning of the Covid-19 pandemic, there has been much debate about the most effective way to reduce the risk of transmission in public spaces. The early guidance focused on surfaces and hand sanitizer, but later evidence points most strongly to fine particle airborne transmission. The scientific and health advice has moved so strongly to masking, and to advising that outdoor activities and spaces are safer.

Why? Because Covid-19 virus particles (at around 0.07 microns) latch onto expelled air (air you breathe or cough or sneeze out) and float invisibly in the air. In an outdoor environment, even a very slight breeze will blow these tiny particles away. But in indoor spaces, that breeze or airflow may not be present.

The building industry has for many years used Carbon Dioxide (CO2) measurement as a proxy for "air freshness". In industrial and large buildings like concert halls, theatres, hotels or exhibition centres, part of the design requirement is to ensure fresh air ventilation – by using mechanical means (typically a giant fan) to blow fresh air in through vents in the ceiling.

With modern buildings prioritising thermal efficiency (insulation) over air-flow, many schools, offices, shops, and other buildings where people gather lack sufficient air-flow to blow Covid-19 carrying particles away. But in most cases, the occupants will be unaware of the poor air quality, and could be putting themselves at unnecessary risk.

ABUS has the solution. The CO2WM110 is a semi-professional Carbon Dioxide meter that can be set to trigger a warning when Carbon Dioxide (CO2) levels exceed safe limits. When CO2 builds up, it means there is insufficient fresh air flow in a space, and this leads to increased risk of Covid-19 transmission. The device gives a visual and audible warning when CO2 levels increase over safe levels.

Governments in many states are now recommending CO2 monitoring in schools, and businesses are installing them to warn employees, customers and visitors when a window needs to be opened, or the air circulation increased as they are concerned about their duty of care.

- Audibly and visually warn when indoor air isn't fresh and circulating
- Provide safety to students, visitors, customers and office workers
- Improved compliance with Duty of Care regarding safe workplaces
- Simple, self-contained, battery powered and rechargeable device

Tell us why you should be Australia's best young locksmith.

Peter Monro

SK Locksmiths & Security (QLD)

I think it is our duty as qualified security professionals to provide the absolute best customer service to the public to ensure the safety of the community.

This can only be done if we have dedicated professionals that never stop growing and I always strive to be one of those people.

Jared Middleton

Northwest Locksmiths (WA)

For me, it's being part of the community and helping people. It's being ready for when the phone rings and you never know what's going to be on the other end.

It's opening a car with a child locked inside and seeing the relief of the parents when they're out and safe.

Aiden Webb

Matrix Security Integration (TAS)

It would be an honour to be named Australia's best young locksmith, a profession that I have been working passionately in for over a decade.

I have excellent interpersonal skills; I have the natural ability to interact with people from all walks of life & always willing to assist.

Kent Fegan

Terry's Locksmiths (QLD)

I am committed to promoting the importance that the locksmithing industry plays in society, most importantly, ensuring that individuals, families, and businesses feel safe and secure, which is the heart of the industry.

CUTTING TOYOTA & LEXUS “EMERGENCY” KEYS ON THE 80,000 SERIES

Toyota introduced a new kind of ‘emergency’ key blade with their proximity remote fobs nearly 10 years ago, and since then there has been confusion about how to cut them on Silca machinery. There are two versions of the key, and below you can find the relevant technical data:

KEY TYPE	CODE SERIES	KEYBLANK	SILCA CARD
Full thickness	80,000 to 89,999	TOY40	3491
Half thickness	80,000 to 89,999	Original	3770

The code series is available in InstaCode, and is coming to the Futura and Silca Key Programs in the new year. A Silca Futura, Futura Pro, Futura Auto, or Triax family machine can be used to cut these. Ensure your machine is up to date if you can't find these cards onboard.

STREAMLINE, AUTOMATE AND OPTIMISE YOUR KEY CUTTING WITH SILCA UNOCODE F-SERIES F800 OR F900

With lockdowns over in most parts of Australia, many locksmiths are reporting a big upswing in business. Stimulus money is flowing through the economy, yet at the same time qualified and trained locksmiths are in short supply.

Investing in Automation is the solution. The Silca Unocode F800 or F900 machines remove the need for an operator to stand in front of a key cutting machine and stamping device by completely automating the key cutting and engraving operation.

6 pin inline keys are cut & engraved (3 lines of text) in around 50 seconds, giving an output of 70 keys an hour without an operator.

Your Account Manager can help you calculate your ROI - and you may be surprised. Our calculations show many businesses can pay back the investment via labour recovery in a year or less.

Get the jump on your competitors and free up your team to do work that can't be automated like installing locks, pinning cylinders, opening houses, or installing Access Control or CCTV systems.

Finance the machine for around $325 per week*. If you have someone in your business who spends more than 3 hours or so cutting and stamping keys - you could free them up and recover that value!

MERRY CHRISTMAS

I know last year when I wrote, I said “wow, what a year it’s been”. Looking back - the year did have an (unfortunate) Groundhog Day element to it! We couldn’t wait to see the back of 2020, and while 2021 started off well, by the end of the year we’re also happy to see the back of it.

Customers in our two biggest states suffered long lockdowns, with the resultant impact on business and consumer confidence. Thankfully, our industry is a resilient one, and despite it being tough, I know customers have pulled through.

Many businesses sought out new products and services to offer, and many invested in themselves and their people in the quieter times, recognising it will make them stronger and more resilient in the future. We’ve also done that.

I’m incredibly proud of our new Website. The new and modern interface, that works across platforms and devices is loaded with more data and functionality than ever before. We continue to enhance it for everyone, and the feedback is overwhelmingly positive. Our training and support offerings just go from strength to strength, and our team are motivated to share knowledge and know-how with you, enabling you to grow and evolve.

Once again I want to thank our onsite team in our warehouse and customer service who came into work every day during the darkest of Covid-times to ensure continuity of supply. For our customer service and back-office teams, thank you also for your commitment and hard work during the lockdowns.

I love engaging with customers and I know how difficult it is for our customer-focused Account Managers and customer-facing teams to have missed out on that over the year. The positive is that we’re all back out and about now, and things are returning to normal. In every state and territory, we can’t wait to get back into your business to share and help with everything that makes up a Complete Security offer.

I remain optimistic for the year ahead. Despite the uncertainties around the economy, Security remains essential. We have a Complete Security offering that covers every aspect – residential, commercial, industrial and automotive – our team remain laser focused on helping you solve more problems for your customers every day.

Lastly, we thank every one of our customers for their support and patience during what has been an incredibly challenging year.

I wish all our customers and staff a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.
